

The People's Column

Officials of the A. and M. College extend a cordial invitation to the citizenship of Bryan to attend the opening exercises Friday morning on the campus. President T. O. Walton and Colonel Ike Ashburn will be the chief speakers. In the afternoon, Coach Bible and his athletic corps will talk to the students. That night a pep rally will be held. These addresses doubtless will be of much merit and will be interesting and informative. As an appreciation to the students and faculty members, as many Bryan people as can should attend these exercises. The pep rally Friday night should be well attended by Bryan citizens. The Aggies are famous over the State for their splendid school spirit that is engendered at these pep meetings. The fine spirit of the student body of A. and M. is envied by officials of other Texas schools.

Watchmaker Is Once In Musical Comedy

Bob Irvin, a watchmaker at Caldwell's Jewelry Store in Bryan, was a star in musical comedies almost 20 years ago. Mr. Irvin is one of Bryan's best musicians, being an artist with the piano, cornet, and saxophone. When he was just out of high school he joined a musical comedy and for four years he played all over the United States and Canada.

One year he was with grand opera, but unfortunately his company "went broke" at Hastings, Neb., and the members of the troupe were paid off and given transportation back home. "We received $25 a week and traveling expenses, which was a good salary for those days in musical comedy," stated Mr. Irvin.

Veteran Fighter Dies At Cuero Suddenly

CUERO, Sept. 16.—Charles Roth, an octogenarian of this city, known to the public as "Uncle Charlie" died very suddenly Tuesday morning at the age of 85 years. Death occurred at the home of Mrs. F. L. Chapman, where he has been living for the past several months.

"Uncle Charlie" Roth was an interesting character and lived a life of adventure filled with many varied experiences. He was a veteran of the Civil war and also served as a soldier in the Foreign Legion under Emperor Maximilian in Mexico. It was while he was with the Mexican forces that the war broke out between the states and Roth deserted the Mexican emperor's standard, swam the Rio Grande river and joined the federal forces at Brownsville. He was later wounded in fighting near New Orleans and served with distinction during the entire four years of conflict.

In his old age Uncle Charlie made application for a pension, but his enlistment papers had been lost and no record could be found of his service. The old man said he enlisted under an assumed name and in the latter years of his life was unable to remember it and the pension was never granted. As a result the later years of his life were lived in poverty, several of them being spent at the county poor farm, near this city.

On this farm are also 100 chickens, 6 hogs, a fine garden and a herd of fine Jersey cows to furnish the good things for the family table. Cigarette Tax Builds Structures For State Schools

(By Associated Press) PIERRE, S. D., Sept. 16.—Smoke from cigarettes may help to build air castles elsewhere but in South Dakota it provides actual, man-made buildings of stone and mortar.

The reason for this is that in South Dakota the income from a state cigarette tax is devoted solely to the construction of buildings at the state's colleges and universities.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, South Dakota smokers consumed sufficient cigarettes to erect a library for the state agricultural college at Brookings and a physical education building for Northern Normal College at Aberdeen. The approximate cost of these buildings is $380,000 and it was necessary to smoke better than 7,000,000 cigarettes to provide this amount.

The tax ranges from a half of one cent on cigarette papers to eight cents for a package of expensive cigarettes. On the cheaper and more popular brands the tax is three cents.

MAVIS BROGDON'S ESSAY ON TREES RECEIVES HONORABLE MENTION IN HOLLAND'S MAGAZINE CAMPAIGN

The following essay on "Trees" written by Miss Mavis Brogdon of Bryan High School, received honorable mention in the Holland's Magazine for Community Beautification conducted locally under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers Association.

TREES AS FRIENDS OF MAN

Poets throughout the ages have sung of trees—of their beauty, of their sublimity, and of their fellowship toward man. Joyce Kilmer in his wonderful poem has said:

"Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree."

Wordsworth has also said:

"One impulse from a vernal wood
May teach you more of man,
Of moral evil and of good
Than all the sages can."

And when we read that: "The groves were God's first temples, and in the presence of these trees, one finds peace, quietude, and inspiration," we realize how trees have always been friends of man.

When we enter a forest and listen to the chatter of squirrels, the croak of the frog as he splashes into the creek, and then we raise our eyes to the wonders of it all, the tall trees, standing like sentinels, with the spreading branches giving shade to the vines and vegetation under them, and watching, always watching and guarding the forest, we realize that trees are friends of man, indeed.

The first American, the Red Man, knew more of the forest than did any other race of people, and to him, more than to any other man, the tree was a friend. He knew the lessons the tree taught. From the bark he knew whether the coming winter was to be cold or mild, and from the leaves, he directed his steps to and from the forest. Where the trees grew the thickest, his wigwag was stretched and the Indian's pony never wandered father than the groves.

And if the Long-Dead Red Man could speak to us and tell what he regrets most to his lost kingdom of the wilderness, probably his heart would ache most for the stately green aisle of the great forests. There where the deer roamed, the awkward bear hunted the wild honey, and the birds sang the woodland song, have grown up great cities. But the cities, in turn, are awakening to the fact that they can beautify their avenues, their parks, and their residences, by planting trees again until the residential sections of some of our cities, view from a distant hill, look like forests dotted with dwellings that peep out here and there among the greenery. Evidence that man is seeing the need of planting new trees and preserving the old is the fact that in April, 1921, six hundred and forty acres of land in Sequa National Park, famous trees, oldest and most massive among all living things, and the only ones of their kind in the world, were bought that they might be saved. A monument of human erection could be destroyed and might be replaced, but if the big trees were cut down, they would be lost forever, and man is slowly realizing this truth.

We know today that when we plant a tree we are planting not for the present, but for the future. As the tree grows, we think of the countless millions that will be benefited by this tree. We see the big ocean liner as it crosses with its thousands of passengers, but we seldom stop to think that its mast is the tree that we planted; that the deck, being walked upon by couples of happy boys and girls, is only rough planks from the tree we planted. We plant a house when we plant a tree. We also plant the topmost peak of our churches and public buildings, and from the latter, the flag-pole stands, from which waves "Old Glory."

Next to the earth itself, the forest is the most useful servant of man. Not only does it sustain and regulate the streams, moderate the winds and beautify the lands, but it supplies wood, the most widely used of all materials. Its uses are numberless also. It is essential to the well-being of mankind that these demands must be met steadily, fully, and at the right time, if the forest is to give its best service.

Think of the pleasure countless numbers of people have enjoyed from the big, beautiful trees. Think of our homes that would not be homes to us without the big, beautiful trees. Think of our homes that would not be homes to us without the big oak under which we have spent so many happy hours. And think how many dollars have been added to real estate deals because of the trees wanted.

The beauty alone of trees has endeared them to man. The picture of the orchard in May will stay in our minds forever, for here, indeed, the trees are in all their beauty. When the trees are all pink and white, with apple blossoms, the air sweet with fragrance and full of the voices of birds, these beautiful trees bring from our inner selves the best and the deepest sympathy and love, and we say with the poet:

"Have you seen an apple orchard in the spring?

In the spring?
An English apple orchard in the spring?"

When the spreading trees are hoary With the wealth of promised glory,
And the robin sings its story
In the spring!"

I think that the "House by the Side of the Road" must have had leading to it a row of beautiful trees. And under their deep spreading branches, in the welcoming shade, were comfortable, although crude benches, made from this "friend of man." They were made to let the weary one know that he might rest here; for where there are rows of beautiful trees, one can always find rest.

C. L. BEASON ONE OF FIRST EXPONENTS OF TEACHING AGRICULTURE IN HIGH SCHOOL

He Has To Do Everything From Community Organization, Boys' and Girls' Club Work, Terracing, Pecan Budding to Tickling Babies

C. L. Beason, county agent for Brazos county, ranks among the pioneer exponents of the teaching of agriculture in high schools of Texas. He was the first teacher to start this practice in Rusk county, and as a result of his experiment he was placed on the program of the county institute to tell of his new-found hobby. "People then thought that teaching agriculture in public schools was a joke," stated Mr. Beason.

Began As Agent In 1916.
He began his county demonstration farm work in Brazos county in 1916, and at that time he said his greatest worry was to find a farmer who would permit him to experiment on his farm. "Now my worry is to go into a section where every farmer will not want me to stop and look over his farm," he stated.

Mr. Beason is particularly proud of the community organizations he has sponsored in Brazos county, which are rated as the best in Texas. One of the leading organizations is the one at Tabor, which has the oldest community group in the State, having been organized ten years ago. Then the community had a membership of ten men and two women, while now the attendance at its meetings varies from 100 to 400.

In club work Brazos county again stands at the forefront. The boys' and girls clubs of Brazos county have won the State championship three years out of five, and in a fourth year they came within a fraction of 1 percent of taking off first place honors.

Terracing is another feature of the county agent's work, and Mr. Beason modestly admits of having terraced "thousands of acres of land" in Brazos county. "However, we have just broken the crust in this work," he added. His work also includes pecan budding, live stock work, and in fact everything to "tickling the babies under the chin."

Following is his official report for the month of August:

Report For August
"Calls at office, 84; telephone calls 66; letters and circulars sent out, 192; farm visits made, 46; meetings held 10, with a total attendance of 690; miles traveled, 800; days worked 25.

"A large per cent of calls on the County Agent during the month of August was for help in insect control, fighting the leaf-worm and etc., many farmers desiring to know most effective methods which had been tried out by college specialists, and others wanting to know formulas for mixing poisons, etc. Besides the several club meetings held, the County Agent's report shows one community reorganized and ready to take up the work of community progress along with gress is poor, but when we begin other communities of the county. "We some times think the problem to make comparisons of former years with the present, seeing community house and Delco lights at Tabor, Edge, Kurten, Steep Hollow, and fine community spirit growing at Reliance, Harvey, Smetana, Steele's Store, and other places in the county, we must admit that a wonderful change is taking place, and that we are justly entitled to the reputation that Brazos county has community organizations second to none in the state.

"The history of all this is, in itself, a wonderful story of how A. and M. College, through its Extension Service, has helped the rural people find themselves and get a new vision of life and its opportunities. The goal has not yet been reached, but let's cheer amidst this fine team work in old Brazos."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIETY PLANS RALLY IN BRYAN SEPT. 19 -HOUSTON DISTRICT IN CHARGE

One of the interesting features of the work planned by the Free Baptist Christian Endeavor Society is a rally that will be held at that church on Sunday afternoon and evening, September 19th. The endeavor societies from Navasota, North Zulch and Huntsville will have representatives attending this meeting and the program is put on by the Houston District C. E. Council members.

This is the first attempt that the society has made to hold such a rally but from the interest that has been manifested by the entire church body a successful meeting has been assured. The main purpose is to discuss plans for the work in the District and suggest methods for carrying out the regular Christian Endeavor program of work in the district and in individual societies and to bring the different societies in the district into a closer contact with each other. If this meeting is successful others will be held in different parts of the district. These meetings will take the place of the regular three day conventions held in the Fall and will enable more endeavorers to attend and receive the benefit of the program.

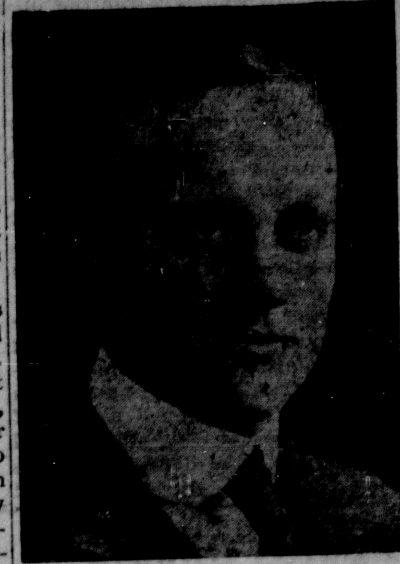

A luncheon will be served at the church and a social hour is being planned for by Miss Dorothy East-

Bryan City Schools have the largest enrollment of students for the first week in the history of the school, according to a statement made today by Supt. Madison Hall. On account of many children, both white and colored, working in the cotton fields during the month of September, the school enrollment is never up to its standard until after the first week. This fact makes the enrollment of the Bryan Schools at this time the more encouraging. Totals to-date are as follows:

MINISTER, 82, DIES HERE SATURDAY NIGHT; BURIED IN BRYAN THIS AFTERNOON

Rev. William L. Thompson, aged 82 years, 7 months and 15 days, died Saturday night at the home of his son, Warren Thompson in this city. In his usual health, except for the infirmities of age, Rev. Thompson was up and with the family of his son all day Saturday, and retired as usual on Saturday night. On Sunday morning, when his son, Warren Thompson, went to his room to awaken him, he found that he had died some time during the night.

Rev. W. L. Thompson was born in Alabama, January 27, 1844 and came to Texas and to Walker county when a young man. He enlisted in the Confederate Army, from Texas and was a valiant member of Green's Brigade. 1,000 COTTON PICKERS ARE NEEDED HERE

MANY FARMERS COME TO BRYAN TODAY IN SEARCH OF COTTON PICKERS.

Brazos county needs 1,000 cotton pickers at once, in the opinion of W. E. Gandy, prominent farmer of the Wellborn community. Efforts will be made to bring in pickers from all parts of the State.

Cotton is now opening rapidly in both the Brazos Valley and on the hill sections. Since school has opened, the lack of pickers situation has become even more acute. Many farmers from all over the county were in the city today in quest of pickers.

NEW OIL WELL SPUDS IN AT 9 THIS MORNING

DEEP TEST WELL IS LOCATED 4 TWO MILES SOUTHEAST OF BRYAN

To Drill Others

C. A. HARRIS AND J. L. EDGE WILL MAKE THOROUGH TEST AT STONE CITY

With Mrs. J. A. Germany of Dallas holding the big lever that turned on the drill power, the first well in the Bryan oil test field two miles south of the city limits was spudded in this morning at 9 o'clock, amid enthusiastic cheering. J. A. Germany of Dallas is financing the test operations, and Mrs. Germany accompanied him to Bryan to officially spud in what they firmly believed is to be a real oil field. Bryan citizens in crowds were also present for the initial insertion of the keen drill which is to go down to the depth of 5000 feet if necessary to find oil. Interest has been whetted to anxiety in Bryan during the past few weeks since the big derrick began to build, and everybody is of course interested in the outcome of the test. The drilling outfit is the biggest thing of its kind ever brought to Brazos county, and that fact, in itself, has centered unusual interest in this venture for "oil."

This test well is being financed by J. A. Germany of Dallas. Local men who are directly responsible for the present test are John C. Vick, J. M. Gordon, O. E. Saunders, and M. E. Wallace. No acreage is for sale. Mr. Germany is carrying on the project in a quiet, business-like way. Other wells in this same locality are contemplated soon, and in the meantime, Bryan is attracting the attention of all this section of Texas, because of this, the biggest oil test ever made in Brazos or adjoining counties.

The drilling crew is in charge of Bill Estabrook of Terrell, Texas, with the following men as drillers: Percy Dowdy, A. K. King, Harry Williams and W. G. Lovell. The public is invited to drive out to the oil test field, two miles southwest of Bryan, and see the location, the splendid equipment and the business like manner in which the test is being conducted. Bryan may yet be an oil center, a gas center, a commercial center. Who knows?

C. A. Harris and J. L. Edge, who have leased 10,000 acres of land, and will drill a number of oil wells in the vicinity of Stone City on the farm of C. A. Harris. Machinery to drill the wells arrived here today, part of it coming by rail and the remainder on trucks.

The head contractor for these wells is W. H. Richard and "Dad" Bradley is head driller. "We are going to make a thorough test for oil if we have to drill a half dozen wells and have to go 5,000 feet," stated Mr. Harris.

MRS. T. B. MARTIN OF STEEP HOLLOW COMMUNITY FOUND DEAD IN ROOM THIS MORNING

Mrs. T. B. Martin, beloved wife of T. B. Martin of the Steep Hollow community was found dead in her room about 6 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Martin was well morning. Mrs. Martin was well morning, and went to church on Sunday, seemingly in the best of health and spirits. Without warning, her bereaved husband and the children, were plunged into this deep sorrow and their hearts are bleeding today. Her daughter, Mrs. Billy Atkinson, was first to find her mother, when she went into her room about six a. m. to call her to breakfast. She had been dead only a short time, when thus found.

Truly a mother in Israel, Mrs. Tom B. Martin will be missed. A Christian whose faith and love for the Heavenly Father shone in her face, and was reflected in her every day life, she lived what she professed, and her influence for good and righteousness will never be forgotten.

Friends of the family would offer condolence, if they could, but words are empty and fall as withered leaves at such an hour of grief as has come to her family.

Only the Great Comforter can speak peace to their troubled hearts. He can "give beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garments of praise for the spirit of heaviness."

The hour for the funeral has not yet been designated, on account of the absence of one son, who lives at Lamesa, Texas and who cannot arrive in Bryan before Wednesday.

Deceased was 64 years, 1 month and 25 days of age at the time of her death. She was born in the State of Alabama, and came to Texas when but a small child. She was married in Brazos county to Tom B. Martin, and they have resided here during the married life, honored and beloved by their neighbors, and friends, and held in the very highest esteem by all who knew them.

The bereaved husband survives, also one daughter, Mrs. Billy Atkinson of Bryan, and five sons, Eskra, Everett and Clint Martin of Bryan, Charley Martin of Lamesa, Texas, Vernon Martin, of Houston and Leslie Martin of West, Texas.

WAR OF 1812 DISGRACE TO AMERICA SAYS COL. TURNER

"Although you will not find it on the pages of the history books, the War of 1812 was a disgrace to the military achievements of the United States. The America won only one battle in that war and that was after peace had been made," declared Colonel F. H. Turner, principal speaker at Tuesday's meeting of the Bryan Lions Club.

Colonel Turner's address was preceded by several vocal numbers by a quartette composed of W. Hendricks Jr., L. L. Stephens, members of the club. S. C. Hoyle, chairman of next week's program concerning the Constitution of the United States, announced that Sanders, S. C. Hoyle, and Mrs. Chas. H. Alvord will be the principal speakers.

SUCCESS AND PRESPIRATION GO TOGETHER T. O. WALTON TELLS 'FISH' CLASS TODAY

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 14.—Welcome to an institution where success and perspiration go hand-in-hand was extended to the "Fish" class on the A. and M. College Campus by President T. O. Walton this morning. Declaring that the State had done all it could by the provision of buildings and equipment; that the Faculty will do all they can in an instructional way but that the success or failure of each freshman depends entirely upon his effort and application, President Walton urged immediate organization of time and effort to secure the best possible results.

"Customs and Traditions of the College" were discussed by Colonel Ike Ashburn, secretary of the Association of Former Students. English and mathematics tests and intramural athletic competitions completed the day for the freshmen.

Indications are that the enrollment will exceed all previous records of the College, with a total between 2300 and 2500 students. On Friday morning, September 17, formal opening ceremonies for the new College year will be held in Guion Hall. Friday night has been designated as College Night. On this occasion the students, freshmen and upperclassmen, will gather for the annual opening pep rally. College yells constitute a feature of this gathering. Since the first football game of the Texas Aggies will be played September 17.

Bilious dull feeling

"My old standby is that Black-Draught have used it off and on for about 20 years," says Mr. W. S. Raynolds, of R. F. D. 2, Arcadia, La. "I get bilious and have a bad taste in my mouth. My head feels dull, I don't feel like getting around and doing my work. I know it isn't laziness, but biliousness. So I take a few doses of Black-Draught and when it acts well, I get up feeling like new—full of pep and ready for any kind of work. I can certainly recommend it."

In case of biliousness and other disagreeable conditions due to constipation, Black-Draught helps to drive the poisonous impurities out of the system and tends to leave the organs in a state of normal, healthy activity. Black-Draught is made entirely of pure medicinal roots and herbs and contains no dangerous or harmful mineral drugs. It can be safely taken by everyone. Sold everywhere. Price 25c.
